The shades illustrated are as accurate as modern printing will allow. The manufacturer of Fyfestone Architectural Masonry cannot be held responsible for the apparent fading of colour or any other effect on the appearance of any product due to "efflorescence" which is a characteristic of all good quality products with high cement content. The effect generally disappears with time. As Fyfestone is a split face product there can be a fraction of pieces that may be condemned as waste and a maximum of 5% is built into the price.
